Los Angeles, CA, March 26, 2014 – E! announces a dynamic original programming slate with new series, specials and live events, and successful ongoing and returning franchises. New series include reality competition series "Escape Club" premiering June 8, plastic surgery docu- series "Botched" premiering this September, and the network's first original scripted series "The Royals" debuting in early 2015. The pop culture powerhouse is also announcing a season two pick-up of "#RichKids of Beverly Hills" and the next iteration of the Kardashians' popular "Take" franchise, "Kourtney & Khloe Take The Hamptons." Additionally, E! is unveiling a pop culture-driven development slate that includes reality, topical, comedy and scripted projects featuring fascinating personalities, new formats and unique points of view. E! drives the pop culture conversation with original programming seven days a week, 365 days a year (790+ original programming hours in 2015, an increase of 14% vs 2014). The network's momentum has continued into 2014 with year-on-year growth in February, marking the fifth month of consecutive gains in total viewers, young adults, and young women across primetime (8-11p).

One of the fastest-growing, most influential digital properties, Eonline is a leader in online video and mobile, and a top entertainment brand across social, generating 24/7 multi-platform content that insatiable pop culture and lifestyle enthusiasts crave. Following six consecutive quarters of growth, Eonline reached a record breaking 25 million multiplatform unique visitors in January 2014 and delivered its fourteenth consecutive month of double digit yearly gains (desktop). Eonline remains top ranked in multiplatform and mobile uniques amongst Entertainment News (#1 in A18-34), Women's Lifestyle (#1 in total, A18-49, W18-49, A18-34) and Entertainment Cable Network sites (#1 in A18-49, A18-34, W18-34). Eonline also recently scored its biggest day ever on post-Oscars Monday with a record high 45M total digital page views, 2.5M uniques on Eonline.com and 1.9M uniques on mobile web. Socially, E! reaches 38 million followers (excluding talent accounts) and @eonline ranks #1 in Klout (social influence) amongst Entertainment News and TV Networks (tied only with CNN and ESPN).

"E! continues to deliver for the pop culture fan through buzzy original programming, unparalleled entertainment news, and innovative digital initiatives," said Suzanne Kolb, President, E! Entertainment. "Across every platform, E! is more topical, trendsetting and up-to-the-minute than any other destination. With our slate of beloved franchises, the arrival of our first scripted series and a strong development slate, we're excited about the year ahead."

"E!'s audience of trendsetters and super consumers are highly social and influential about their purchasing decisions with their friends, followers and family," said Laura Molen, Executive Vice President, Lifestyle Advertising Sales Group, NBCUniversal. "We're excited about enhancing our comprehensive 360 advertising initiatives by E!'s exciting new programming schedule and the opportunity for advertisers to have our audience work hard for their brands."

Below is E!'s original programming slate:

NEW SERIES

"Escape Club" – Sunday, June 8 at 10pmET/PT

In the new one-hour series "Escape Club," E! sends 12 twenty-somethings looking to escape and reboot their lives to an exclusive, exotic resort where they will do whatever it takes to keep their place in paradise. Those daydreaming about changing the course of their lives are now given the opportunity to drop everything, fully disconnect and experience the ultimate tropical bliss... but as they rejuvenate and passions are reignited, paradise has its price and twists and surprises along the way force everyone to stay on their toes. Produced by Shed Media, Pam Healey, John Hesling, Dan Snook and Matt Odgers are executive producers.

"Botched" – September 2014

This new eight episode, one-hour series showcases the risky quest to correct extreme plastic surgery gone wrong. For the first time on television, the ugly side of beauty will be put under a microscope, revealing the obsession surrounding beauty and plastic surgery, and some of the most shocking results of those who have taken it too far. Highly accomplished plastic surgeons Dr. Terry Dubrow and Dr. Paul Nassif will work with these victims of ill-fated cosmetic work to attempt to undo and fix their results. Viewers will follow each patient every step of the way from the complex medical procedures to the intensive recovery process that will result in the ultimate reveal at the end of each episode. Executive produced by Alex Baskin, Douglas Ross, Greg Stewart and Mark Herwick for Evolution Media.

"The Royals" – Early 2015

E!'s first-ever original scripted series, "The Royals," is a one-hour drama about a fictional British Royal family set in modern day London. Produced by Lionsgate, the Royals inhabit a world of opulence and regal tradition that caters to any and every desire, but one that also comes with a price tag of duty, destiny and intense public scrutiny. Set and shot in Great Britain, "The Royals" pits public perception of the royal family against the reality of life inside the castle walls, from the lavish parties and high stakes political summits, to the private family gatherings and secret romances. However being born into this elite circle comes at a cost and the Royals' lives are played out on a world stage where press is 24/7 and social media drives an insatiable appetite to follow their every move. The sweeping series is executive produced, written and directed by Mark Schwahn ("One Tree Hill"), and executive produced by Brian Robbins and Joe Davola ("One Tree Hill," "Smallville"). The ensemble cast includes Elizabeth Hurley, Vincent Regan, William Moseley, Alexandra Park, Tom Austen, Jake Maskall, Ukweli Roach and Oliver Milburn.

SCRIPTED PROJECTS IN DEVELOPMENT (working titles)

"Songbyrd" – Pilot

One of today's most prolific writers of hit love songs, Lauren Byrd, can't seem to figure out her own love life. She employs a small staff, including her sister, to enable and manage her eccentric yet wildly successful process. But when her ex-fiancé reveals himself to be less than the man she remembers, she realizes that she can no longer live in the past and must find a new, true inspiration for her sake and those around her. The ensemble cast includes Bethany Joy Lenz, Rumer Willis, Robert Hoffman, Wes Brown and Tracie Thoms. From Universal Cable Productions, "Songbyrd" is from writer Krista Vernoff (Grey's Anatomy, Private Practice, Shameless) and executive produced by Craig Zadan and Neil Meron (The 2013 Academy Awards, Chicago, Smash). "Songbyrd" features the experiences of Grammy winner Diane Warren, who serves as a consulting producer. Director is Andrew McCarthy.

"Gucci" – Mini-series in active development

The unique love story between Aldo Gucci, the son of the founder of Gucci, and his longtime mistress Bruna Palombo set against family politics, corporate intrigue and the worldwide expansion of the Gucci brand from the unique point of view of Patricia Gucci, Aldo and Bruna's daughter. Based on Patricia's upcoming book "The Name of Gucci." From Universal Cable Productions. Sal Stabile is writer and executive producer. Warren Littlefield, Patricia Gucci and Alan Nevins are executive producers.

UNSCRIPTED / TOPICAL PROJECTS IN DEVELOPMENT (working titles)

"DVF"

This docu-series, set in the world of the prestigious global fashion icon Diane Von Furstenberg, explores the relationships between an ultra-successful boss who controls the fashion world and her eight eager-to-please associates in training. Culminating at NY Fashion Week, ultimately one will get the highly sought-after yet demanding opportunity to work directly with DVF as her Global Brand Ambassador. An integral part of all major DVF divisions, this chosen ambassador will travel the world representing Diane and her business... if she makes all the right moves. Produced by Electus and Hud:sun Media. Executive producers are Chris Grant, Michael Rourke, Mioshi Hill, Corie Henson and Diane Von Furstenberg.

"Christina Milian"

Since she was a teenager, Christina Milian has lived life in the public eye. Hit songs, movie roles and paparazzi focus have come, gone and come back again, but the one constant in her life has always been her family. Whether from her passionate mother and business partner, her strong-willed sisters, her hip-hop producer fiancé or even her adorable 4-year old daughter; everyone has an opinion about the next move in Christina's career and in her life...and they all are more than happy to voice it! Drama, comedy and touching reality will all be on display in this fiery family docusoap. Produced by Banca Studio and G3 Productions in association with Lionsgate Television. Roy Bank, Kelsey Grammer, Stella Bulochnikov Sher, Brian Sher, Carmen Milian, and Christina Milian serve as Executive Producers.

“#RichKids of New York”

Building off the success of “#RichKids of Beverly Hills,” “#RichKids of New York” features a whole different kind of “rich kid.” These 20-somethings are just as wealthy, beautiful and fabulous – but with their own unique entrepreneurial drive. These #RichKids are using their bank roll to build their own empires in The Big Apple. They’re educated, elitist and connected; reigning over a city where it’s not just what you own, but who you know. Despite their east coast pedigrees and privilege, these rich kids are brash, unfiltered scenesters, who love to cocktail, party, and make fun of themselves and each other. Produced by ITV Studios America in association with Leepson Bounds Entertainment. David Leepson and Doron Ofir are executive producers.

“The Receipt”

For today's generation, it's all about status... in life... and online. For those who are filthy rich, it isn't enough to spend money, you have to flaunt it! Each episode of “The Receipt” starts with the reveal of an outrageously high receipt, and viewers will follow as we backtrack to live the 24 hours with the insanely rich person responsible for the over-the-top spending. These are the stories of the super wealthy who don't just live a lavish lifestyle... they post it, tag it, tweet it... and love every moment of it. This is “receipt porn” at its finest, and it's one epic journey! Produced by Den of Thieves. Executive producers are Evan Prager and Jesse Ignjatovic.

“Lance Bass Wedding”

This wedding special follows former NSYNC member and now radio host-producer-singer Lance Bass as he and his fiancé actor-artist Michael Turchin plan the wedding of their dreams. Following Lance and Michael's love story, viewers will experience the entire wedding process along with them... for better or worse. From wedding planning disasters to bachelor parties and trips home to meet each other's families, viewers will get an inside look at what it takes to plan their modern day wedding... or at least two guys trying their best. Produced by Brian Graden Media, executive producers are Brian Graden, Gaurav Misra, Lois Curren and Lance Bass.

“Spin Out”

A heart-pumping docu-series, drenched in equal parts sweat and champagne, taking audiences inside the thrilling secret lives of LA's hottest spin instructors. Beautiful people, celebrities in their own world, rewarded for looking great and behaving badly. In this subculture, nothing is as it seems. There's a cutthroat hierarchy and strict rules. Huge egos and outgoing personalities mask all too human insecurities. Toned, sexy, hard bodies betray hard partying lifestyles. And sex, friendship, and popularity are used for both pleasure and currency. Produced by Tricon Media, Inc. Executive producers are Andrea Gorfolova and Jeff Hevert.

“Luxe Life”

What happens when rich kids hit their 30s? Between finally receiving their trust funds, making a killing in their careers, marrying the right guys, and having rich kids of their own, they set the standard for glamor, fun and success. Welcome to the no-curfew, no-limits and no-saying-no world of the "Luxe Life." Produced by Evolution Media. From Colet Abedi and Executive Producers Giuliana Rancic, Alex Baskin, Douglas Ross and Greg Stewart.

“Pretty Young Things”

Trying to make it in New York City isn't always pretty. And being beautiful doesn't always help...but it doesn't hurt, either. In fact, it is the good looks and sex appeal of these young models that give them a shot at the good life most people only dream of – fame, fortune and VIP treatment at the finest restaurants, clubs and parties that the world has to offer. But until they make the big leap from rags to riches and enter the world of famous supermodels...they will need to suck it up and pay their dues like the rest of us. Welcome to the real life and real drama of real working models in New York City, this is a “model apartment” like no other. Executive producers are Bill Robinson and Loic Maes for Shady Media, and Banks Tarver and Ken Druckerman for Left/Right.

“Dash Dolls”

Kourtney, Kim and Khloé Kardashian made a mark on the fashion industry with the opening of their upscale DASH boutiques. We'll see how the Dash Dolls – the girls entrusted to manage the DASH storefront and overall franchise – juggle the glamorous lifestyle that comes with representing one of today's most successful boutique chains. Produced by Bunim-Murray Productions and Ryan Seacrest Productions.

“Love Live”

“Love Live” is a weekly live event where the audience at home gets to play matchmaker in real-time with real people's dates. Live each week from our studio, one hopeful single will have three potential suitors to choose from...but the catch is that only the audience can see them! All of America can weigh in with their opinions on who our single should choose. Did Bachelor #3 stand you up for a date? Is Bachelor #1 a notorious cheater? You better let our single know! All bets are off when it comes to this modern take on the classic game of love that taps into the social media fueled dating scene where everyone shares everything and judging the choices of other is all part of the game. Produced by Wilshire Studios.

“New Money”

Money can't buy you taste, and that's really fun to watch and judge! In this self-contained format, each episode will give us a sneak peek inside two millionaires' outrageous homes, cars, & closets. We'll see how people with more money than God (but probably less taste than you!) have chosen to spend their newfound fortunes. Produced by Leftfield Picture. Executive producers are Brent Montgomery and Will Nothacker.

“After Party”

After Party is a live 30 minute daily show that celebrates and recaps the best of the past 24 hours in television and pop culture news, including the good, the bad, and the ugly. Stunted with guests, games, debate, insider info and more! Hosted by a panel of television and pop culture experts, everyone's got an opinion on the craziest, most outrageous and juiciest TV of the day! Produced by Wilshire Studios.
