Cynopsis Kids Imagination & People Awards – Call for Entries

Cynopsis Media issues its call for entries in the annual Cynopsis Kids Awards program, honoring top kids programming, campaigns and people. The entry deadline is March 14, 2014

January 28, 2014 (New York, NY) – Cynopsis Media today opens its call for entries in the third annual Kids Imagination & People Awards honoring the year's best programming, marketing/advertising campaigns and people in kids and family entertainment. The worldwide competition is accepting entries through March 14; winners will be announced at an awards event on June 11, 2014, in New York City, where Cynopsis Kids will also salute the year's Animation Innovators.

Presented by the industry's most-read and trusted publications, Cynopsis Media, the Imagination Awards are open to all brands, production companies, studios, producers, networks, animators, developers, licensing companies, marketing firms, ad agencies and toy companies. The eligibility period for the Cynopsis Kids Awards is January 1, 2013-December 31, 2013. (Enter Online Now)

Spanning the spectrum of television and online platforms, the Awards encompass every aspect of the children's programming industry, including linear TV, digital content, marketing, and more. A few fresh categories have joined the already robust list: Brand Website, Console Game, Online Game, Online Interactive Experience.
