

Steve Goldbloom is the co-creator and star of PBS's "Everything But the News," a co-production of PBS Digital Studios and the Independent Television Service (ITVS). Prior to the series, Goldbloom served as the the Business Development manager for ITVS in San Francisco. Before that, he spent three years producing segments for the PBS NewsHour in Washington, DC. Originally from Toronto, Goldbloom is currently traveling between Los Angeles and San Francisco producing future episodes for his EBTN series.