

Zach Blume is a Partner and Managing Director of Portal A – a creative studio based in San Francisco and Los Angeles that produces and distributes video content built for the web.

Before joining Portal A, Zach spent four years directing political, nonprofit and corporate communications campaigns in California. For two of those four years, Zach was at Storefront Political Media, a San Francisco-based political consulting firm with local, statewide and national clientele.

Zach is a Phi Beta Kappa alumnus of the University of Oregon where he graduated with honors in 2006 and is a 2007-2008 Fellow of the Coro Center for Civic Leadership.