President

All Media Network

Laura S. Murphy is the president of All Media Network, a suite of properties that connect consumers with the best digital entertainment content online. Murphy oversees strategic direction, operations and staff management for All Media Network, as well as the brand and content development for each of the company's products.

Prior to co-founding All Media Network in 2013, Murphy was Senior Director of Consumer Web at Rovi Corporation, from which All Media Network acquired its web properties and mobile applications. She began her career in sales and training in the biotechnology sector and ended up following her passion for entertainment into the world of digital discovery. A San Francisco Bay Area native, Murphy is a northern Californian through and through—enjoying all forms of digital entertainment and live performance, outdoor adventure, travel, food and wine, and being surrounded by geeks of all breeds.

All Media Network connects consumers with the best music, movies, TV, celebrity news and games online through their proprietary discovery and fulfillment products: SideReel, AllMusic, Celebified, AllGame and AllMovie. With over 17 million monthly average uniques and 118 million monthly page views across the five web sites, All Media Network provides the most comprehensive and pervasive consumer entertainment discovery tools available anywhere.
